

Courting Your Inner Creator

Yes, you are creative! You have gifts abundant to offer the world. You have untapped talents waiting for nothing but a nod in their direction. You have a unique perspective on life that someone needs to hear. You are ready, whether you realize it or not, to step into a bigger manifestation of you!

Okay, here you go again:

I am so busy, running the kids everywhere. I don't have time.
I used to draw but I couldn't draw a stick man now.
Have you heard so-and-so sing? I can't do that - why bother?
I'm 50 (or 70 or 90) and it's too late - you can't teach this old dog new tricks.

It doesn't matter whether you've made friends with your personal creative center or not -- it is never too late to begin the courtship. It doesn't matter if you are one of the many who have said "But I don't have any gifts to share". That simply isn't true!

Jeanne Loehnis, spiritual singer/songwriter, challenges you to gift yourself for one afternoon and explore questions like:

Why explore my creativity?
What is mine to share with the world?
What has been keeping me from my creativity?
Where do I begin?
How do I make time?
How will I keep this commitment to myself this time?
Where does creativity merge with spirituality?

Grab a friend and join with other women and release worries and the endless to-do list, and focus only on the awesome responsibility of caring for yourself for one afternoon.

Dare to give yourself this gift.
Dare to rest.
Dare to dream.
Dare to explore the amazing world inside of you.

Are you ready?

What: Courting Your Inner Creator Workshop
When: 3 hours on a Saturday or Sunday afternoon
Where: Name the place!
Who: Adults who seek more inner peace, deep joy, relationship, creativity
Cost: $40 per person
Bring: A journal, a favorite pen or pencil, personal needs for food and drink, comfortable clothing and walking shoes